Using iRead at Home

iRead® gives your child individualized experiences that will ensure they master the alphabet, phonemic awareness, phonics, and fluency, while building vocabulary and comprehension. We want to ensure that students experience success and continue to grow as we transition to online learning. It is vital that your child uses the iRead software at least four days a week to maintain the exciting gains they achieved during the school year. Use this information and the online resources below to assist your child at home.

Let’s build successful readers!

How You Can Help Your Child
- Set up a quiet place for learning, or consider using headphones.
- Ensure your child logs out after each session.
- When possible, have an adult or older sibling watch them work through the software.
- Ask your child about new words that they’ve learned to read.
- Read with your child.
- Reward your child’s learning and share their success.
