The Howard B. Owens Science Center Planetarium Celebrates the Arts

The planetarium is a wonderful place where science and arts meet up in a magnificent display of what STEAM is all about. This Spring, HBOSC hosted two concerts under the planetarium dome, accompanied with dazzling full dome visuals and the beauty of the starfield. On May 11, 2018, in collaboration with the College Park Chamber Singers under the direction of Allison Hughes, the audience was treated to Lauridsen's Lux Aeterna and O Nata Lux by Thomas Tallis. May 18, 2018 featured PG County's very own superior-rated symphonic band and orchestra from Thomas Johnson Middle School, under the direction of Danielle Gillard. Both concerts were well received, and the partnerships will continue into the 2018-2019 school year!
